Create a Crepe Station
Whether sweet or savory, crepe stations are sure to be a hit! Use a separate table or designate an area on the main buffet allowing ample space for the chef to cook. Dress up your table to coordinate with the rest of your buffet or create a contrasting look to grab attention. You will need a crepe maker, dough spreader and flat crepe spatula. Keep all ingredients handy and at safe food temperatures. Have clean plates stacked and ready for serving. Presentation is a key element, so keep extra toppings and special ingredients at the station to make each crepe a unique creation.

Stainless Steel Seafood Trays & Holder

Makes a splendid seafood presentation. Fill the tray with chilled or hot seafood - the stainless steel helps hold temps! Trays are made of 18/10 stainless steel. The tray holder is chromed steel wire.

The Perfect Pour

Remember to chill before pouring—freeze glasses in freezer, use a glass froster or bury the glass in shaved ice. Always add ice to the glass before pouring to eliminate splashing and to keep the alcohol chilled. Never pour a drink into a glass straight from the blender—always use a strainer. When pouring a batch of drinks, arrange the glasses in a row and pour until each glass is half full, then work your way back to make sure each one has the same amount. To create a layered rainbow effect, pour each liqueur into a glass over the back or inverted side of a bar spoon. Start with the heavier liqueurs, then add the lighter ones. The round surface of the spoon will disperse each liquid in such a way that it will surface above the last.
